THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS INSTITUTED

Over Four Hundred Knights Visit Empoium on Sunday. Emporium Council Organized.

As announced in the PRESS some weeks ago, Emporium Council, No. 990, was instituted last Sunday, about 550 visitors beiug present from adjoining towns and Councils. Special trains arrived early in the day from east and west, bringing Renovo, Ridgway, St Marys, Austin and Kane members of the order.

Before the ceremonies incident to the institution of the order, High Mass was said at St. Mark's Church, followed by an eloquent sermon by Rev. Downey, whose remarks we hear very flatteringly referred to by those fortunate enough to be present.

State Deputy, P. H. Welsh, of Philadelphia, assisted by visiting Councils, conferred the work on a class of eighty, the Odd Fellows Hall being used for the occasion.

The following Charter members were introduced to his goatship, imported from Philadelphia for the occasion, it being deemed inadvisable to attempt the use of the Odd Fellows goat on so large a number. The following are the members and officers:

Rev. Thos. B. Downey, Rev. M. J. Machin, Michael C. Tulis, Henry Auchu, Bernard Egan, Charles Seger, A. D. Macdonell, William G. Bair, Peter Daley, Edward Blinzler, Augustus F. Vogt, Martin Conley, Martin Grady, Maurice Farrell, Henry C. Kenley, Jos. J. Egan, James L. Mahoney, Robert Green, Joseph Lechner, Dennis J. Donahue, E. L. Hackett, J. V. Hackett, J. M. McCool, John Hackett, W. H. Roach, John McMahon, E. J. Hackett, Lewis C. Broody, L. J. Arnold, John Cavanaugh, Joseph Kinsler, Theo. Haberstock, Charles Vogt, Cornelius Welsh, James Kearney, Joseph Boutain, John Buer, Fred Seger, William Haley, John H. Mulcahy, Martin L. Cummings, Charles H. Huff, William Berfield, James Haley, Frank Nangle, Edward McCarthy, Frank Kinsler, James Keenan, Leo. F. Hayes, Thomas E. Law, J. S. Hauber, James Cavanaugh, Patrick H. Burke, John H. Butler, William E. Welch, Frank Bair, Patrick Lacey, John MacDonnell, Otto Edleman, Edward T. Wells, Thomas Davin, Jas. B. Mulcahy.

Officers: Bernard Egan, Grand Knight; Augustus Vogt, Deputy Grand Knight; Peter Daley, Chancellor; Fred Seger, Recorder; William G. Bair, Financial Secretary; A. D. Macdonell, Treasurer; Michael Tulis, Advocate; Thomas Law, Warden; Patrick Burke, Inside Guard; James Haley. Outside Guard; Edward Blinzler, Lecturer; Rev. Thomas B. Downey, Chaplain. Trustees, Henry Auchu, Joseph Kinsler and Joseph Lechner.

THE BANQUET.

An elaborate Banquet was served in the basement of the church from seven o'clock until eight thirty, when the guests departed. It was without doubt the most elaborate affair ever given in Emporium and reflects great credit on the ladies of the church. The large room was elaborately decorated and could not have been made more beautiful if they tried ever so hard. It was greatly commended by all visitors. Three hundred and sixty-seven sat arond the four long tables when Toast Master Mr. Bernard Egan rapped for order, after having devoured the following:

MENU.

Celery Olives Pickles
Salted Peanuts
Westphala Ham Potato Croquets
Chicken Salad Cabbage Salad
Bread
Chocolate and Vanilla Ice Cream
Assorted Cakes
Fruit Cheese Coffee
Cigars.

During the Banquet the Italian Royal Orchestra, so popular here, furnished excellent and appropriate music.

Response to the following toasts were then in order and it is said many able remarks were listened to with marked attention. The following were the Toasts:

TOASTS.

Toast Master, Bernard Egan
Grand Knight, Emporium Council 990.
Welcome, Rev. Father T. B. Downey
Chaplain Emporium Council.
Modern Knighthood, C. F. Haughey
Austin Council.
Knighthood in America, J. J. Lynch
Grand Knight, St. Marys Council 567.
Our Future, Daniel W. Healy
Bradford Council.
Our Order, P. H. Lynch
State Deputy of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.
Remarks, J. W. Sweeney
District Deputy St. Marys, Pa.

The festivities closed at an early hour and all departed for their homes, delighted with the successful launching of Emporium Council, which contains many of our most substantial citizens and business men.

Accidentally Killed.

Daniel Cronin, aged about seventy years, a professional tramp, and a baker in the civil war, was struck and instantally killed by a time freight No. 83 west bound at 8 p. m., Saturday near the Huntley tower. The old gentleman was making his annual "back door" calls in the direction of Sterling Run, and was killed on what he supposed to be the double track. He has been through this place several times in the last fiteen years and was well known, and the general supposition is, (that this being his first trip through here since one mile of the west end of double track was thrown out of service a short-time ago and used as a siding), that he thought he was on the right track for a west bound train and paid no attention. The train was running at a high rate of speed and he was knocked about fifty feet; none of the train crew saw him. The body was discovered by the train crew on the second section who notified track foreman W. W. Johnson and he was the first man on the ground. Justice of the Peace, B. Fefcy, came up from Driftwood, and acting corner, empanneled the following jury: L. H Smith, C. W. Barr, C. J. Miller, Ray Smith, Chas. Taylor and A. W. Smith. After examining the witnesses and remains, the jury returned a verdict, "that one, Daniel Cronin, met accidental death at Huntley, Pa., April 29th, 1905, at 8 p. m., by being struck and instantaly killed by a fast freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad, and that no one was responsible for the accident." Poor overseer, B. J. Collins, took charge of the remains and they were removed to the P.R. R., tool house and prepared for burial, interment being made in the Huntley cemetery at the expense of Gibson township. Steps will be taken to look up his record during the war. He has told several in this place that he hasn't done a days work since the closing of the civil war, and always followed the occupation of "Weary Willie," yet he had reasonable good clothes, and was neat and clean. M.

J. F. S., our energetic correspondent at Cameron, caught onto the following additional particulars of the fatal accident:

His body was literally covered with tatoo marks. Among these were, M. M S., and a United States flag on left arm; a crucifixion on the breast; on left arm was the word "Constitution;" on the right arm was another crucifixion, an anchor and a motto saying, "In memory of my mother." It is not known which train caused his death.

Birthday Parties.

Last Friday afternoon twenty-six little ladies and gents were guests of Miss Pauline Crandell at her home on West Fifth street. The little ladies and gents certainly did have a lovely and enjoyable time. We had the pleasure of a peep at the party when they were seated at the supper table—chairs and table being of the kindergarten order—and the sight would make a beautiful picture. Miss Pauline, who was in her happiest mood, was the recipient of many nice presents from her friends upon this her sixth anniversary

***

The young ladies of Emporium are certainly having an enjoyable time, these pleasant days. Last Tuesday evening Miss Mary Jessop, in honor of her fifteenth birthday, pleasantly entertained twenty five of her young lady and gentlemen friends. From the pleasant reports received they must have been royally entertained by Miss Mary. She was the recipient of many beautiful remembrances of the happy occasion.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Party taking the two corset covers from H. A. Zarps & Co's store, Monday, must return same or be exposed

The Italian Royal Orchestra furnished delightful music for two informal dancing parties given in the Opera House, the past week.

A concert will be given by the Ithaca Conservatory Male Quartette. Thursday evening, May 25th, for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church.

CARPETS! CARPETS! CARPETS! When you want Carpet go to LaBar's at Emporium. He has them You want them. The largest line outside the large cities. 9 4t

The dime social held at the Four Mile school House, April 29th, was a success, both socially and financially. Chance No. 10, held by Mr. Claude E. Seeley, won the quilt.

If you want a good Piano, at the very lowest price, call on LaBar at Emporium. No agents commissions, car fare or hotel bills. All those extras cut out. The best piano for the money. If what I have don't suit you, I will get anything you want. 9 4t

A Good Road.

Chas. J. Howard, the enterprising Portage township farmer, dairyman and stock breeder, was a PRESS visitor one day last week and requested the PRESS to mention the good work Supervisor Verney Lewis is doing on the road, opposite the John Jackson farm, which has for many years been a dangerous place. Mr. Howard highly compliments the Supervisor on the substantial manner he has done his work. This is cheerful news to those who use that road.

West Creek Social.

The ladies of West Creek will hold an ice cream festival on next Saturday evening, May 6th, at school house. Everybody come and have a good time. X.

Dangerously Ill.

Marcus Taylor is dangerously ill, of pneumonia, at his home on North Creek, and in a precarious condition. Dr. Smith is the attending physician.

A Slight Blaze,

A slight blaze occurred in the barn of Mrs. M. B. Judd last Tuesday afternoon. The Citizen Hose Co., responded to the alarm in their usual quick manner, but their services were not needed.

Base Ball Association.

It is requested that all persons interested in the base ball association meet at the store of R. Seger & Son, this Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. It is the intention of the association to erect a grandstand on the base ball grounds in Keystone Park, and make this a brilliant season for this favorite American sport.

Gone to Alaska.

Urban Butler and Mr. Fred Mills left on Tuesday for Alaska to be gone for two years, to look after their claims in that country. This will be Mr. Butler's third trip to Alaska, but Mr. Mills has frequently visited the gold fields, having formerly resided at Seattle. Mrs. Mills and child remains, here for the summer, expecting to join her husband next winter.

Hip Broken.

Last Monday afternoon Mrs. Henry Robinson met with a serious accident, while assisting in driving a cow from her garden. She fell while stepping over some plank, breaking her right hip in two places. Drs. Smith and Heilman are attending her. Miss Belle Robinson, (a professional nurse) her daughter, arrived on early Flyer Wednesday morning. The injured lady is doing as well as can be expected.

Wreck.

This morning at 3:15 o'clock a small wreck occured in the P. R. R., yard, overturning four cars. The train was switching near the round house and in pulling out of the switch, a heavy car loaded with iron ore on the next track broke loose and ran into the same switch thus throwing four cars of the switching train off the track. This same crew had a wreck at the watering tank yesterday afternoon. No one was injured.

Blast Furnace Resumes.

The Emporium Iron Company, after being shut down for six weeks for repairs resumed operations last Saturday. The plant has been extensively repaired, the stoves and furnace being relined. Other improvements are contemplated as soon as material can be procured. This industry, employing a large number of men, is a veritable gold mine to Emporium.

A Good Family Leaves Town.

Samuel J. Kline and family, who have resided here for twenty-one years, leave this week for Williamsport, where Mr. Kline is interested in the Hotel Federal. Samuel and his pleasant family have many friends in Emporium who dislike to have them leave us, yet hope they may be well received, and we know they will, by Williamsporters Mr. Kline went to Williamsport yesterday, his wife expecting to follow in a few days, or as soon as that young Republican can travel safely.

ELECTION OF COUNTY SUPT. OF SCHOOLS.

Miss Mattie M. Collins Elected for Fourth Term on Tuesday.

The School Directors of Cameron county met at [Court House, Emporium, last Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., for the election of County Supt of Schools for next three years.

County Superintendant, Miss Mattie M. Collins, called the convention to order, asking for nominations for Chairman and appointing Hon. John McDonald and Chas. J. Howard as Tellers.

Mr. B. Egan nominated L. K. Huntington, of Emporium, Mr. J. O. Brookbank nominating W. H Howard, also of Emporium.

Upon roll call the following was the result:

Howard,.....20
Huntington,.....23

Mr. Huntington took the chair and after a few words of thanks called for the election of Secretaries. E. E. Whiting, of Lumber, and W. H. Thomas, Gibson, were elected Secretaries.

On motion of Dr. V. K. Corbett, seconded by C. J. Howard, the convention proceeded to the nomination and election of County Supt.

The following were placed in nomination:

William J. Leavitt, Shippen, John Schwab, Lumber, Miss Mattie M. Collins, Emporium; E. S. Ling, Emporium.

The convention was not given to much oratory, only three speeches being made in favor of the candidates. Mr. J. P. McNarney in seconding Miss Collins' nomination, spoke at some length in favor of his favorite and told the directore why Miss Collins should he again elected.

Mr. L. K. Huntington took issue with Mr. McNarney and dwelt for some time on the ability of Prof. E. S., Ling to successfully fill the bill.

Mr. B. Egan enrolled the good qualities of Mr. Schwab, at the same time promising his loyal support to the successful candidate.

On motion of W. H. Howard, the nominations were closed and the convention proceeded to vote, it requiring five ballots to decide who was the choice of the Directors. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Miss Collins, 20; Mr. Ling, 7; Mr. Schwab, 7; Mr. Leavitt 11. The second ballot Miss Collins gained one, Mr. Ling lost four, while Mr. Schwab gained three and Mr. Eeavitt held his eleven. On the third ballot Miss Collins gained one, Mr. Leavitt lost one, the others holding good. On the fourth ballot no changes. Before the fifth ballot was taken Mr. Huntington withdrew Prof. Ling's name, resulting in Miss Collins' election, she receiving 23 votes; Mr. Leavitt, 12; Mr. Schwab, 10; A complete detailed vote appears elsewhere.

The convention was largely attended many ladies being present. Miss Collins, the successful candidate, was heartily congratulated. We are pleased to note how pleasantly this contest was conducted, little if any "bad blood" being manifested. We predict for the successful aspirant the efficient work she has rendered during the past nine years, when she labored zealously for the upbuilding of the schools.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

NEWTON.

ELMER F., the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Newton, died Friday morning, April 28th, at the home of his parents, West of town, aged twenty-two years and seven months. Death was due to a rapid development of pulmonary trouble. For some months his health had declined—compelling a relinguishment of his work, but it was not until the last three weeks that the serious nature of his malady became known and though every available remedy was employed, it was evident that his life could not be saved.

He was an industrious young man and had many excellent qualities that popularized him with his circle of intimates. This was very evident from the immense concourse of people that attended his funeral, held from the Rich Valley church last Monday afternoon. Servioes were conducted by the Rev. O. S. Metzler, the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal Church rendering several impressive musical selections.

Deceased leaves a father and mother, two sisters and one brother to mourn hia untimely death.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa, May 12th and 13th. If you can't see well or have headache don't fail to call and see Prof. Budine, as he guarantees to cure all such cases. Lenses ground and fitted in old frames. Eyes tested and examined free. All work guaranteed.

Paint Your Buggies for 75c.

To $1.00 with Devoe's Gloss Carriage Paint. It weighs 3 to 8 ozs., more to the pint than others, wears longer and gives a gloss equal to new work. Sold by Murry & Coppersmith Co.

Prompt Action.

April 10th, 1905, Mrs. Laura Heilman, a member of Gladiola Hive. L. O. T. M., died. On May 1st, Mrs. Helena M. Butler, Record Keeper, handed Dr. R. P. Heilman, beneficiary; a draft for $1,000 in payment of claim.

Furniture at Private Sale.

A large quantity of furniture, dishes and cooking utensils at private sale until all are sold. Apply to Mrs. M. H. Forbes, Fourth street, Emporium, Pa., at the residence of the late Miss Mae Holbrook.

Goes on the Road.

Fred W. Dinniny, a young gentleman of Emporium, who is a practical steam heater and plumbing workman, has accepted a position with the United States Heater Company at Detroit, Mich., as travelling salesman. He will continue to reside here, making Emporium his headquarters.

Leaves for Idaho.

Mr. George W. Gentry and family, of Sterling Run, also Clark Chapman, of Emporium, left on Tuesday for Colur de Alene, Idaho, to reside permanently. Mr. Gentry came to Lumber township in May, 1863, from Virginia and was married in 1865 to Miss Emaline A. Lewis. He has always resided at Sterling Run, being numbered among our best citizens; had filled many offices of trust and responsibility. Friend Gentry carries with him to that far country the best wishes of our people who know this excellent family will make friends. His son R. L., who has been a clerk in First National Bank at this place goes with him. The PRESS cheerfully recommends this family, as well as our young friend Chapman, to the kind consideration of all former Pennsylvanians in Idaho.

Brush Up.

F. H. Pearsall, the popular Painter and Paper Decorator desires to inform his many patrons that he is ready for an active season's work, having in his employ several good experienced workmen. After many years of experience in decorating and painting the bublic can rest assured they will receive first-class attention. Call on or drop me a postal, and examine my sample books. 6-6t.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT ON R. R. SWITCHMAN.

Two Cameron County Men Implicated and are Still at Large.

Special to the PRESS.

SALAMANCA, N. Y., May 3, 1905.—Delbert Devling, aged about 26 years, and another man named Hart, while intoxicated, made an assault upon Thomas Wilson, an Erie R. R. Switchman at this place, last Wednesday night The men crawled up to him while he was unlocking a switch and struck him on the head with some blunt instrument, leaving their man for dead. The ruffians escaped and and are still at large, yet the officers are after them. The injured man was taken to the hospital but did not regain consciousness until the next day. He is better now but suffers from a broken jaw.

The culprits came to Emporium last Thursday morning and were said to be about town all that day and Friday.

Young Devling, if reports are true, hails from Sterling Run, where he has respected parents. We hope the report may not be correct, yet the above telegram to the PRESS comes from the Chief of Police at Salamanca. At the time of going to press the men are still at large.

Suicides continue to increase in the United States, the ghastly record for 1904 being 9,240, as compared with 8,597 in 1903. The proportion of suicides as between men and women is about the same, the number of men being 6,560 and of women 2,680. The money received from the sale of this set will be used for the benefit of the orphans and widows of soldiers who served in the war with Japan. This fund is managed by an organization called the Imperial Society of Patriotic Women. The stamps are very large, and the design represents various monuments of local interest.

Too much stress can not be laid on the importance of purity in public life and in the discharge of every sort of official responsibility. All will agree that there can not be too lofty an ideal of public morality, and it can not be too strenuously insisted upon. Fraud in lofty as well as lowly places must be firmly and severely dealt with, and the prompt and effective proceedings against "grafters," high and low, taken by the federal administration, can not be too highly praised.

Consul Jerome B. Peterson reports from Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, that figures recently published in the Boletin de Noticias show the exports of cattle from the port of Puerto Cabello from January 1, 1898, to December 31, 1904, to have been 299,437. These cattle weighed 214,227,906 pounds, and were valued at $5,105,750. There were included in this number 15,605 cows. The exports in the year 1904 alone amounted to 91,887 cattle, weighing 61,418,899 pounds, and valued at $1,112,165.97.

DIVISIONS IN DEMOCRACY.

The Conflict Between the New and the Old Is Fiercer Than Ever Before.

The New York and Chicago Jefferson day gatherings bring again to the front the divisions in the democratic party. Ex-Candidate Parker, in the New York assemblage, condemned "new fads," meaning, of course, the things for which ex-Candidate Bryan, Mayor Dunne and other democrats stand. He also emphatically opposed "centralization by the federal government," which is one of the things that the other two gentlemen advocate, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. Bryan, at the Chicago dinner, spoke in favor of the ownership of the great trunk lines of railway by the federal government, and that of the local lines by the various states. In the same tenor spoke Mayor Dunne, who has the advantage of winning a victory on this public ownership idea in its preliminary phase. "I am glad that in the city of Chicago," said Mr. Bryan, "the democratic platform was broad enough to include not only the public ownership of street car lines, but the public ownership of lighting plants and telephone systems."

Here is the irrepressible conflict between the old and the new democracy. The new democracy controlled the party campaigns of 1896 and 1900, nominated its ticket and framed its platform. It was beaten badly at the polls. The old democracy rallied in 1904, chose the candidate and dictated the platform. Its defeat at the polls was more overwhelming than the other faction encountered in the preceding canvasses. There was a gulf between the democratic factions in all those campaigns. The gulf is broader now than it has been at any previous time. Such differences as were shown between the Parker and the Bryan idea at the Jefferson banquets of 1905 are fundamental. One wants the federal government to interfere with public activities less than it does now. The other wants it to take charge of other and larger activities. There is no chance for compromise or accommodation here. If either of these ideas is real democracy, the other must be something widely different. No party can put the Parker and the Bryan ideas on the same banner or in the same platform at the same time. One must necessarily exclude the other. One or other element must be in the ascendant in the party, and control its machinery and name its candidates.

Which faction of the democracy will give the law to the party in 1908? The Bryan and Dunne element undoubtedly. They represent the younger, the more virile and the more active section of the party. Three-fourths or the ardent, energetic, forceful spirits in the democracy stand behind the Nebraskan and the Chicago mayor. Present indications point to the nomination of Bryan three years hence. Other men may come to the front in the interval who may have more attractions for the democracy than are offered by its old leader, but the Bryan idea is sure to prevail in its national convention. The radical section of the party will be supreme. That 2,500,000 of an adverse plurality will shut out the conservative section of the party from the control of conventions in the near future. The Cleveland-Parker element has had its day, and the other side must now be allowed to take its turn at the front. Chicago and New York, in their Jefferson banquets, represent the two diametrically opposite schools into which the democracy is divided. The line of separation is as broadly marked as that which asserted itself in the Charleston convention 45 years ago, with the important difference that the democracy lacks the tremendous momentum and prestige which it possessed then. He would be a bold man who would fix any date in the future—1912, 1916 or any other time—when there would be a prospect for the democratic party to secure the support of a majority of the American people.

☞And there are just as many kinds of democrats as ever.—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

☞At the present time there appears to be a southern, a western and an eastern democracy and harmony is away on a vacation.—Chicago Chronicle.

☞Judging from the claims of the various democratic party orators, Thomas Jefferson was the original India rubber man.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

☞Jefferson s birthday was celebrated by a Tammany dinner in New York and a Bryan dinner in Chicago. The shade of the so-called father of the democratic party might well ask: "What have I done to deserve this?"—Troy Times.

☞Whatever demand there was for tariff revision appears to have died away. It does not seem any longer to have a place in the mind of the president or to be advocated by any part of the republican party.—Baltimore American.

REORGANIZATION BY BRYAN

An Alluring Programme Laid Out by the Self-Constituted Democratic Leader.

Soon after poor Parker's nomination in St. Louis last summer William J. Bryan said that he would start out, immediately after the election, to reorganize the democratic party on democratic lines, whether the St. Louis ticket were elected or not. Mr. Bryan has evidently made his start, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He appeals to every democrat to send him, on a blank which he has prepared, a pledge to attend every primary between now and the meeting of the national convention in 1908, the individual voter to work at each primary for what he calls democratic ideas. In this way Mr. Bryan hopes to get a pretty good knowledge of democratic sentiment on every issue before the country.

This is an alluring programme. If any considerable number of democrats do what Mr. Bryan wants, and keeps him informed of their wishes, he will know where the democratic party stands by the next campaign. One of the many blunders of the St. Louis national convention of 1904 was that it did not know what the masses of the democracy wanted. It put up the weakest candidate it could have selected had it made a thorough search of the entire country. The strongest candidate it could have named would have been badly beaten at the polls, but the beating would not have gone quite so far into the dizzy heights of arithmetic as did that of the unfortunate person who was selected.

Mr. Bryan is immeasurably the strongest man in the democratic party. There is not likely to be any doubt on this point, even among the Clevelandites. From present indications he will be nominated in 1908. The masses of the democracy are with him. His candidacy may drive Cleveland to cast a republican ballot in that year, as he did in 1896 and 1900, but this will not alter the fact that Bryan has the affection of the democratic rank and file to an extent not approached by any other man in the country. His plan to find out what the democratic voters want, and then to give it to them, is good. The democratic party needs reorganizing, and the man to do it has started out on that work. The republicans and democrats who have been writing the ex-candidate's obituary will be called upon to add a pretty lively chapter to it a little over three years hence. William J. Bryan will never be president of the United States, but he is a personage with whom the republican party will have to reckon in 1908.

TARIFF DISTURBANCES.

Strong Reasons for Discouraging Any More in the Direction of Revision.

The tariff is a complicated arrangement requiring great skill and statesmanship. It was framed after a thorough study of the industrial situation by men of large experience and prudence. It cannot be safely unmade or taken to pieces and put together except under similar conditions, says the Baltimore American. A local demand here or there, which may be reversed a year hence, is not sufficient basis for revision. It was impossible, from the diversity of interests, to avoid minor injustices, and the changes occasioned by time may once in a while work temporary injury; but the tariff is not a local, but a national, policy, and must be judged by its general advantages. If it were possible for congress to consider the law and correct the slight evils complained of without altering the policy of impairing its strength, it might be a wise thing to do, but experience has shown that is very nearly impossible. If once a campaign of revision were entered upon no one could foretell where it would end, and the last state of the law might be very much worse than the first.

There is another thing to be considered in connection with the matter. Congress will have before it some very important questions. They may not be the most serious problems that ever confronted a legislative body, but they will be quite serious enough. There will be more than one of them. The great parliamentary bodies of the world have found it exceedingly difficult to dispose of more than one great question at a single session. Each one of them is of more importance than tariff revision. Were the tariff question once taken up, it would probably in one way or another consume all of the time at the disposal of congress, while an agitation would be precipitated throughout the union, while now there is complete acquiescence as well as phenomenal prosperity.

☞"Back to the people," says Mr. Bryan. That's just where the voters have sent him on two notable occasions.—Baltimore Sun.

☞Some years ago Kentucky would have thought at least twice before according an ovation to a republican president.—Washington Star.

☞Judge Alton B. Parker says his own defeat last fall was "easy to foresee," showing that his hindsight is in excellent working order, anyhow.—Kansas City Star.

☞Now that his remains have been found we trust our democratic friends will not begin a quarrel about the late John Paul Jones' political principles.—Philadelphia Press.

☞Can it be that Judge Parker's insistence that "we must struggle out of the treacherous bogs of policy and get back to the solid ground of principle" lies our hope of less mud slinging in politics?—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

"IT SAVED MY LIFE"

PRAISE FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Mrs. Willadsen Tells How She Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Just In Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monthly periods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep around. As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, my monthly periods started; I am regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day.

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

"Shall we chloroform the old folks of the next generation?" asked the sage of Plunkville.

"If cigarettes an' tight lacin' keep their present holts on the respective sexes," retorted the Pohick philosopher, "there ain't goin' to be no old folks in the next generation."—Pittsburg Post.

There are some of us who have lived in daily expectation of the unexpected so long that we have begun to suspect that it doesn't happen near as always as people seem to think.—Puck.

Progress would be even more rapid than it is if we were all as anxious to earn all the money we get as we are to get all the money we earn.—Puck.

For Growing Girls.

West Pembroke, Me., March 21.—Mrs. A. L. Smith, of this place, says that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for growing girls. Mrs. Smith emphasizes her recommendation by the following experience:

"My daughter was thirteen years old last November, and it is now two years since she was first taken with Crazy Spells that would last a week and would then pass off. In a month she would have the spells again. At these times she would eat very little, and was very yellow, even the whites of her eyes would be yellow.

"The doctors gave us no encouragement, they all said they could not help her. After taking one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, she has not had one bad spell. Of course, we continued the treatment until she had used in all about a dozen boxes, and we still give them to her occasionally, when she is not feeling well. Dodd's Kidney Pills are certainly the best medicine for growing girls."

Mothers should heed the advice of Mrs. Smith, for by so doing they may save their daughters much pain and sickness and ensure a healthy, happy future for them.

DEATH COMES TO TEN MINERS

The Conyngham Mine at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Is the Scene of a Very Fatal Accident.

CAME WITHOUT ANY WARNING

The Men Were Being Lowered Into the Mine When the Rope of the Cage Broke and They Fell 400 Feet to the Bottom of Shaft.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 27.—Ten miners were crushed to death yesterday at the Conyngham mine of the Delaware & Hudson Co., located in the northern part of this city. The men were being lowered into the mine and when 350 feet from the surface the rope broke and the cage fell to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 400 feet. A rescuing party was at once organized and they found the bodies of the men in the sump at the bottom of the shaft beneath a mass of debris.

They were terribly mangled. Most of the victims lived in the vicinity of the mine and when the rescuers brought the crushed forms to the surface a large crowd was in waiting. The grief of the relatives of the dead was heartrending.

Superintendent Foote says he is at a loss to account for the accident. An examination of the rope was made before the first cage full of human freight was lowered into the mine and it was found to be all right.

William Cunningham, who is said to be one of the most reliable men in the employ of the company, was the engineer in charge of the hoisting carriage. He says everything went well until the fatal trip. He got the signal to lower and to stop at the Hillman vein, which is 350 feet from the surface. When the Hillman was reached he slowed up. Without any warning the rope snapped and the carriage containing the ten men dropped like a shot to the bottom. The carriage had all the safety appliances and its speed should have been checked before it reached the bottom, but as far as can be learned the "catches" did not work.

This is the third accident of a similar nature that has occurred in the Wyoming region within six months. In each case the rope atached to the carriage broke and the men on the vehicle were dashed to the bottom of the shaft and instantly killed. The first disaster occurred at the Auchincloss mine, in which ten miners lost their lives. Six weeks ago a cage at the Clear Spring colliery fell and seven men were killed.

A NEW NAVY FOR RUSSIA

A Large Portion of It Will Be Built in America and Equipped with American Guns.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—American superiority over foreign rivals again triumphs in the complete success which has crowned the visit of Charles M. Schwab to St. Petersburg. Mr. Schwab's negotiations with the Russian admiralty have resulted in the practical conclusion of an arrangement for the construction of a number of formidable batleships of a type which probably will startle the world. Mr. Schwab will leave St. Petersburg to-day.

The details of the construction of the vessels remain to be worked out, but in addition to those which will be built in the United States it is quite likely that a yard will be constructed at a Baltic port to be manned by Russian workmen, but under American engineering and mechanical supervision, the Russian admiralty being extremely anxious to utilize the rehabilitation of the navy for the encouragement of the shipbuilding industry at home in order to eventually render the country independent of foreign yards.

The admiralty has accepted Mr. Schwab's propositions strictly on their merits, he having convinced the authorities that he can produce for Russia warships vastly superior to anything now afloat or at present projected by any other government. They will be monster 16,000 ton vessels of enormous horse power and of a peculiar type, combining the projectile resisting power of the battleship with the speed and wide radius of action of cruisers. They will be delivered fully equipped as to armor and ordnance.

The remarkable advance in naval architecture which these American-built ships will mark is a well guarded secret, but it is believed it will involve the use of nickle steel of greater tensile strength, which in machinery, boilers, frames, etc., will give greater power with decreased weight. Mr. Schwab guarantees to create vessels with 20 per cent higher efficiency than any now existing. It is understood, however, that not all the ships will be built by the Bethlehem Co., as the time for delivery is a factor, Russia desiring that the ships be turned over as early as possible.

While the Bethlehem Co. will supply the armor and ordnance, other American yards will profit in the construction of the hulls.

Tax Collector and $39,000 Missing.

San Francisco, April 27.—Edward F. Smith, tax collector of San Francisco, has been suspended from office by Mayor Schmitz. Taxes to the amount of $39,112 paid into the tax collector's office are missing. Smith is also missing.

One Killed, Eleven Injured.

Philadelphia, April 27.—One man was killed and 11 others were injured, four fatally, by an explosion of dynamite yesterday on the farm of J. G. McIlvaine, near Downingtown, about 20 miles from here.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR.

A Dozen Men Are Killed by an Explosion in a Mine Near Big Run, Pa.

Dubois, Pa., April 29.—The mine disaster that occurred at Eleanora shaft, near Big Run, Thursday night is the worst that has taken place in this region since 1896, when 13 men were killed in the Berwind-White shaft near this city. Thursday night 12 were killed and one had both legs and both arms broken. He will probably die. The explosion occurred at 9:35 p. m., but for some unaccountable reason word was not sent to surrounding towns until Friday.

Although it was known at the time that the accident was an appalling one and that the death list would be great, the news did not become generally known in the village until morning. Superintendent Fleming was notified and organized a rescuing party. It was slow work because the brattice work had been blown down and had to be replaced as they proceeded. At 12 o'clock Thursday night the rescuers found Harry Mohney, motorman. He was unconscious and did not revive until morning, when he was taken to the Adrian hospital. He could not talk, however. It was not until 9 o'clock in the morning that any more victims were found.

John Hopkins, the trapper boy, was the first and his body was taken to his home. Others were brought to the surface frequently until the last was recovered. An examination of the bodies as they were laid on the floor of the building near the shaft indicated that death had come instantly. Their clothing tears as though it were made of paper. There could not have been much flame, however, as the hair of the victims was not scorched.

Until the official investigation has been made it cannot be said what caused the explosion. The mining officials are emphatic in the assertion that it was not caused by gas. It is the theory of the officials that the charge that caused the disaster was put in a hole surrounded by hard material, blowing the charge out of the hole.

GEN. FITZHUGH LEE DIES.

Famous General of Two Wars Succumbs to an Attack of Apoplexy.

Washington, April 29.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, died at the Providence hospital in this city at 11:20 o'clock last night as the result of an attack of apoplexy and paralysis with which he was stricken early Friday morning while traveling by rail from Boston to Washington.

GEN. FITZHUGH LEE.

Prior to the civil war, at the beginning of which he resigned his commission in the United States army, Gen. Lee saw considerable frontier duty in movements against the Indians. He was an expert cavalry officer and on one occasion, June 16, 1860, he was engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with Comanche Indians near Camp Colorado, Tex. His services in the Confederate army as a major general are well known.

During the interval between this war and the Spanish-American war Gen. Lee filled a number of important positions, including the governorship of Virginia, the presidency of the Pittsburg & Virginia & Virginia railroad and the consul generalship at Havana. He was 69 years of age.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Business Broadens in a Wholesome Manner—Crop Prospects are Bright.

New York, April 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Business broadens in a wholesome manner and the most encouraging indication regarding the future is the scarcity of labor disputes. These controversies are usually most numerous on May 1, but this year no serious trouble is threatened and one beneficent result is the expanding activity in the building trades. Jobbers have experienced a good spring trade and manufacturers are receiving large contracts for fall shipment, while retail sales are of satisfactory volume, except at a few points where inclement weather has temporarily retarded distribution. Activity at the interior is evidenced by the increased transfers thither of silver dollars and of subsidiary silver by the treasury.

Current conditions and prospects for the future are both extremely satisfactory in the iron and steel industry.

Failures this week numbered 204 in the United States, against 202 last year, and 15 in Canada, compared with 16 a year ago.

Holds the Company Responsible.

Princeton, Ind., April 29.—Coroner Hollingsworth returned his verdict yesterday as to the recent coal mine disaster in which eight men were killed. He holds Roscoe Hedrick and the Princeton Coal Co., which owned the mine, responsible.

A Lawyer Is Sent to the Pen.

Baltimore, April 29.—In the criminal court Friday Judge Wright sentenced Julius Schaumloffel, a lawyer, to five years in the penitentiary for obtaining money under false pretenses.

THE LABOR WAR IN CHICAGO

A Sweeping Injunction Against the Striking Teamsters Is Issued by Federal Judge Kohlsaat.

A FIGHT FOR THE "OPEN SHOP"

The Employers' Association Declares War Against Organized Labor—A Number of Persons Are Injured in Riots—The Strike Grows.

Chicago, April 28.—With 3,100 teamsters on strike, with constant accessions to their number and with the express determination of the Employers' association to take a firm stand for the "open shop" and to fight the Teamsters' union to the bitter end, Chicago to all appearances stands on the eve of one of the greatest industrial upheavals in her history.

There was rioting in various parts of the city Thursday despite the strong guards of policemen and the numbers of private detectives hired by the Employers' association to protect their wagons. During the clashes three persons were seriously injured, two of whom will probably die.

Chicago, April 29.—For the first time in Chicago since the strike of the American Railway union in 1894, the government of the United States has been made a party to labor troubles. The government was brought into the teamsters' strike Friday by the issuance of an injunction by Judge Kohlsaat, of the United States circuit court. The writ was asked in behalf of the Employers' Teaming association.

The federal court order commands that all defendants refrain from any interference with the business of the Employers' Teaming association and commands the strikers to refrain from picketing, massing in streets with intent to interfere with the wagons of the complainant and from interfering in any manner with non-union men in its employment.

As soon as issued, the injunction was printed on large cards and two of these were attached to every wagon of the Employers' Teaming association. The injunction exerted a pacifying influence aand there was less rioting in the streets than on Thursday. A heavy thunder storm during the latter part of the afternoon and the evening also lent assistance in keeping the streets clear.

Twelve arrests were made for interference with the injunction, all of them being made at one time and place.

The full meaning of the strike was brought home to the public Friday. The boycott against "struck" firms was rigidly enforced and conditions extraordinary even in a strike developed. Groceries, coal, ice and meat were kept away from the firms involved. Even florists, except those delivering for funerals, were affected.

The hay, grain and feed drivers took action, shutting off the feed from all barns where strikes are on. Hundreds of horses stabled in the barns are threatened with starvation.

CARNEGIE'S LATEST GIFT

He Provides a $10,000,000 Fund to Pension Professors in Colleges.

New York, April 28.—A gift of $10,000,000 by Andrew Carnegie, to provide annuities for college professors who are not able to continue in active service, was announced Thursday by Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City bank, of New York. Professors in the United States, Canada and Newfoundland will share in the distribution of the fund.

United States Steel Corporation 5 per cent. mortgage bonds for $10,000,000 have been transferred to a board of trustees and steps will be taken at once to organize a corporation to receive the donation. Dr. Pritchett, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Mr. Vanderlip have been selected by Mr. Carnegie to obtain data on the subject to be presented at the first meeting of the board of trustees, which will take place on November 15.

EXPLOSION CAUSED HAVOC

Two Persons Killed, Three Fatally Hurt and Monetary Loss of $100,000.

Huntington, W. Va., April 28.—Three persons were probably fatally injured, three others badly hurt and at least two are buried under the ruins of the Mossman building, which was wrecked Thursday by a gas explosion which caused damage estimated at $100,000. The two bodies known to be under the ruins are those of Cleve and Frank Rude, and it is feared that others are also buried. Six people were rescued from the debris, all badly injured, and three of them will probably die.

The explosion was the result of the ignition of escaping natural gas. Brick and debris were hurled hundreds of feet. Every plate glass window within a block was broken. Both the adjoining buildings were completely wrecked.

A $250,000 Fire Loss.

White Springs, Fla., April 28.—The sawmill of R. J. & B. Camp, one of the largest concerns of the kind in Florida, was burned yesterday, together with 2,000,000 feet of lumber. The fire spread to neighboring houses and several of them were destroyed. Loss $250,000.

Cossacks Killed Many Peasants.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—Official reports from the Caucasus describe numerous encounters between peasants and troops. Many of the former have been killed in Cossack charges.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, April 29, 1905.

Editor Press:—

Postmaster General Cortelyou has inaugurated a new regime in the prosecution of fraud in his Department, if it continues to be conducted on its present lines, promises to prove "a terror to wrong-doers." In fact, that is the Postmaster General's announced purpose. To begin with the Postmaster General issued instructions to the law division of his department to investigate every concern on its face appeared to be conducting a fradulent business as fast as they could be reached, without waiting, as has been the custom with former administrations, for some person who had been evictimized to file a complaint. The result has been that a larger number of fraud orders have been issued during the last month than in any previous month in this history of the department. With the reorganization of the Postoffice Department the inspectors have been placed under the direct supervision of the Postmaster General, instead of being in the Bureau of the Fourth Assistant, as heretofore, and inspectors realize that the evidences of their vigilance come to the personal notice of Mr. Cortelyou, so there is every inventive to do thorough work. In time the Postmaster General hopes to develope this good work to an extent that will enable him to hold responsible the inspectors or the officials of the Law Division when an apparently objectionable advertisement appears continuously for a given period in the newspapers without its authors being inspected by the postal authorities.

But Postmaster General Cortelyou has not confined his energies to the insurance of fraud orders against concerns doing a hishonest business. He has also instituted a crusade against persons conducting or acting as agents for lotteries. In this work, in which the Postoffice Department has, in the past, been hampered by lack of cooperation from other Departments, Mr. Cortelyou has enlisted the sympathies and cooperation of the Treasury Department and of the Department of Justice. Already raids have been conducted and numerous arrests made in Tacoma, San Francisco and in Cleveland, although no arrests were effected in last named city. Within a few days raids will be conducted in eleven other cities were lotteries or their agencies are flourishing, according to information which has reached the Postoffice Department or the Secret Service men. The men thus far arrested claim that they represented the Mexican Lottery and that the tickets seized were for a Mexican drawing, but the Secret Service men are of the opinion that the concern has headquarters in San Francisco. They claim that the printing of the alluring tickets took place in that city.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has some other reforms of importance in view but as his plans are not yet formulated he does not care to discuss them for publication at this time. Altogether, the administration of the new Postmaster General, even should it be brief, will doubtless see much needed improvement in the postal service, especially if Congress is willing to cooperate with him and to aid by by legislation in the needed improvements. There is some fear, however, that Congressmen will be inclined to resent the Postmaster General's insistence that his subordinates shall not take off their coats to carry doubtful congressional districts and perform other similar services.

EDWARD S. LING, Principal.

Letter to Chas. Wiley.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: But few of the men who sell the hundred different paints in the market know much about them. All Devoe agents have a state chemist's certificate telling just what it's made of, they know a good deal, not only about Devoe but the rest; we see that they do. We buy every paint, that has any sale, and analyze it. Our agent finds out all about it.

When we know what a paint is made of, we know how it will act; we know how far it goes and how long it wears.

Devoe is the standard; call it 100. The best of the rest is about 75; the worst about 25; the rest are between.

But the men who sell them, don't know any better. They know what the maker tells them. That is; they know that he tells them. They don't know whether he tells them the truth or not.

The business is not conducted on knowledge; the less they know, the more comfortable they are.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & Co.,

San-Cura Ointment Cures Burns and Prevents Scars.

Gilbert Hord of Rinard's Mills, Monroe county, O., says: "My arm was badly scalded with steam and was very painful. I applied San-Cura Ointment, which stopped the pain at once and the arm healed rapidly. I always keep it in the house, San-Cura is a wonderful Ointment." Druggists, 25c and 50c. Sold by R. C. Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and to-day I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at L. Taggart's drug store; price 50c.

Cleared for Action.

When the body is cleared for action, by Dr. King's New Life Pills, you can tell it by the bloom of health on the cheeks; the brightness of the eyes; the firmness of the flesh and muscles; the buoyancy of the mind. Try them. At L. Taggart's drug store, 25 cents.

Happy is the man who is too busy to find fault.

There is a Difference.

The difference between Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar and all other Cough Syrups is that it moves the bowels, thus expelling a cold from the system. This relaxes the nerve tissues and by its healing affect on the throat and lungs the cough is relieved—cured entirely. Kennedy's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar and contains no opiates. Good alike for young or old. Tastes good. Solb by R. C. Dodson.

Necessary evils are often blessings in disguise.

How a Doctor was Cured.

"For two years I was troubled with lumbago, or pain across my kidneys, the pain shooting down my thigh (especially on taking cold the pain would be terrible,) a continual grinding, aching pain: One bottle of Thompson's Barosma, Backache, Diver ank Kidney Cure gave me immediate relief. I am now taking Barosma with great benefit as it reduces all inflammation of the stomach liver and bladder, the great organs that regulate the whole system and purity the blood." —Dr. A. S. Hubbard, 94 Brook St., Titusville, Pa. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Protruding Piles Cured.

Five years ago I was troubled with protruding piles. They were very painful, and for six weeks I was unable to replace them. I used one 25c bottle of San-Curr Ointment, which relieved the pain and cured me entirely. I have had no return of them in five years. San-Cura also cured my daughter of the piles. I could make oath to the above. John C. Ross, Hydetown, Pa. For sale by R. C. Dodson 25c and 50c.

Hot Weather Piles.

Persons afflicted with piles should be careful at this season of the year. Hot weather and bad drinking water contribute to the conditions which make piles more painful and dangerous. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve stops the pain, draws out the soreness and cures. Get the genuine, bearing the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Strictly Genuine.

Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The following notice recently appeared in the Atchison (Kan.) Globe: "Joe Tack, a well known engineer, running on the Missouri Pacific between Wichita and Kiowa, lately appeared in a big one, with a picture, and when he was in his office to-day we ask him about it. He says he had terrible pains in his stomach, and thought he had cancer. His druggist recommended Kodol and he says it cured him. He recommended it to others, who were also cured." Kodal Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures all stomach troubles. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

WHY not have your mouth placed in a healthy condition?

To-day the practioner of medicine recognizes that a clean condition of the mouth of his patients is absolutely essential to their health and welfare; that there is remarkable immunity from disease in both adults and children who have clean, healthy mouths; that 75 per cent of antial troubles are of dental origin; that 90 per cent of neuralgias are the result of imperfectly inserted metallic fillings, impacted wisdom teeth or roots covered by the gums.

The satisfaction and comfort derived from a clean mouth is worth far more than the time and money expended in its production.

Miss Carrie Miller, a professional nurse, located at Philadelphia, is visiting her parents and sister at this place —Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller and Mrs. Charles Crandell and family.

Henry Zwald returned from Ridgway Monday evening, having visited his sister and husband over Sunday. Ridgway celebrated Dewey Day on Monday, thousands of people being in attendance from adjoining towns.

Gordon Howlett and wife, of Sterling Run, visited in Emporium on Monday and transacted business. They have recently purchased the 133 acre Philip Smith farm at Sterling Run, one of the best little farms in that section.

Jasper Harris, a popular Fourth street clothier, went to Gettysburg on Monday to attend the State Council of Modern Woodmen of America, as the delegate from Emporium Branch. He expects to take in the famous battlefield.

F. S. Sherman, of Straight, came over to Emporium last Friday in his automobile. A number of our business men enjoyed a ride in his car. He made the run to this place in two and a half hours, a distance of thirty-six miles.

Jackson M. Thomas, Ex-County Treasurer W. L. Thomas' eldest son, sent to ye editor a beautiful bonquet of arbutus, for which he has our thanks, as well as our good better-half, who promptly appropriated the fragrant blossoms. Thanks, friend.

J. H. Drum, for many years a clerk in Barclay Bro's store at Sinnamahoning, while attending the election of County Supt., visited the PRESS sanctum and renewed his paper for another year. Mr. Drum has always taken a lively interest in public affairs and is one of our solid, reliable citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Miller, of First Fork, were short business callers at the PRESS office Tuesday afternoon, the former to renew his subscription while the Mrs. looked over our complete printery plant. Mr. Miller is one of Grove's substantial farmers and citizens and was in town to assist in the election of County Supt.

Miss Nellie E. Marsh, of Mason Hill, daughter of our respected friend, Mr. D. F. Marsh, was a pleasant PRESS visitor on Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. O. L. Bailey, of Sinnamahoning. Miss Marsh's father, who has been partially blind for some years, expects to visit Philadelphia in the near future, hoping to get some relief.

Geo. A. Walker, Jr., drove over to Austin last Friday.

C. B. Howard Company have purchased about 2,000 acres of land owned by the Estate of S. S. Hacket containing principally hardwood. G. F. Balcom and H. L. Burns estimated the timber for the second party. They are experts.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gordan Green, who have been making their home at the New Warner left yesterday for Canoe Run to commence housekeeping in their new cottage recently erected by the Coal and Iron Company. Mr. Green is mining engineer for this company.

Sheriff Harry Hemphill and Deputy Franklin Housler returned from Huntington Reformatory on Wednesday, having accompanied another batch of four. Last Friday the Sheriff landed three in the penitentiary at Allegany City. Cameron county is certainly sending her full quota. Tough on the tax-payers, yet there are more that should take the same trip, yet escape.

A Decided Success.

The supper at Presbyterian church last Thursday evening by the men of the church was a decided success, and largely attended, netting a neat sum of money to the church. The ladies were not in it and were barred from the kitchen. In addition to the unique meal served the patrons were served with pleasant instrumental and vocal music, the Mandolin Club, composed by Misses May Gould, Flossie and Byrde Taggart, Maud Steck, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Feltwell, Chas. Crandell, (director,) Joel Jordan, Hugh Swartz, and Chas. Wiley. The Club certainly did render excellent music and greatly pleased all who heard them. This was their first public appearance and all hope it will not be their last. Miss Grace Walker also rendered several pleasing solos and Prof. A. D. Ericsson executed some instrumedtal music of a high order. The music was worth double the price of admission.

HOW TO AVOID GERM DISEASES.

Strengthen the Stomach and Digestion, and You Will Get Well.

When there is an epidemic of germ disease, and most diseases are caused by germs, it is the person with a weak stomach who succumbs first.

People with healthy digestion are ordinarily not subject to sickness, and can throw off readily any disease germs that enter the system.

Strengthen the stomach and digestive organs with a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal, and every atom of food taken into the stomach will be digested and assimilated, and the whole digestive system made so healthy, clean and sweet that there will be no chance for disease germs to breed.

If you suffer with pains or distress after eating, headache, belching of gases, sour food, a bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, pains in the heart, specks before the eyes, and a general feeling of despendency and weakness, you should get well at once by strengthening the stomach with Mi-o na. Just one small tablet out of a fifty cent box before eating, and your digestive system will become so strong that you will be the embodiment of good health and spirits, and need fear no germ diseases.

Ask L. Taggart to show you the guarantee under which he sells Mi-o na; it costs nothing unless it cures.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At L. Taggart's drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

OUR SERIAL.

THE BACHELOR'S SONG.

In one of the states of the Argentine Republic bachelors have to pay a fine of £1 a month up to the age of 30, £2 a month from 30 to 35 and £6 a month after they reach the age of 50.

Since my twentieth birthday I had tried
With no success to win a bride;
My heart had been returned with thanks
By cruel ladies in endless ranks.
But, instead of the balm that the jilted lacks,
The state came down on me with a tax,
And I saw my savings disappear
At the rate of £12 every year.
It came a bit expensive, for
I wasn't a wealthy bachelor.

Fearing my purse wouldn't stand the drain,
At the age of thirty I tried again:
Bought new clothes of the latest style,
Practiced a fascinating smile;
But—why, I cannot understand—
Nobody wanted my heart and hand;
And the state, in its brutal, callous way,
Doubled the tax it made me pay.
Pounds to the number of twenty-four
I paid for being a bachelor.

My fiftieth birthday found me still
A single Jack in search of a Jill;
Hairless, hopeless, dull and stout,
Troubled, too, with a twinge of gout;
And for all my exertions I could not
Find any one willing to share my lot.
But did the state feel sorry for me?
No; it multiplied my fine by three.
Seventy pounds and a couple more
I paid for being a bachelor.

I write these lines with a borrowed quill
On the back of an unpaid tailor's bill.
As clever readers will doubtless guess,
The local workhouse is my address.
It seems the only refuge for
A cruelly harried bachelor.

CHAPTER XXII.—CONTINUED.

As I stood by, quivering with excitement, I saw him get a slash in the shoulder. He stumbled, falling heavily. Then quickly, forgetting my sex, but not wholly, I hope, the conduct that becomes a woman, I caught the point of the saber, now poised to run him through, with the one I carried. He backed away, hesitated, for he had seen my hat and gown. But I made after him with all the fury I felt, and soon had him in action. He was tired, I have no doubt; anyway, I whirled his saber and broke his hold, whipping it to the ground. That was the last we saw of him, for he made off in the dark faster than I could follow. The trouble was all over, save the wound of the corporal, which was not as bad as I thought. He was up, and one of them, a surgeon, was putting stitches in his upper arm. Others were tying four men together with rope. Their weapons were lying in a little heap near by. One of the British was saying that Sir Charles Gravleigh had sent for them to ride after the coach.

"Jerushy Jane Pepper!" said the man D'ri. "Never seen no sech wil'cat uv a woman es that air."

I looked down at my gown; I felt of my hat, now hanging over one ear. Sure enough, I was a woman.

"Who be ye, I'd like t' know?" said the man D'ri.

"Ramon Bell—a Yankee soldier of the rank of captain," I said, stripping off my gown. "But, I beg of you, don't tell the ladies I was ever a woman."

"Judas Priest!" said D'ri, as he flung his well arm around me.

CHAPTER XXIII.

I felt foolish for a moment. I had careful plans for Mme. St. Jovite. She would have vanished utterly on our return; so, I fancy, none would have been the wiser. But in that brief sally I had killed the madame; she could serve me no more. I have been careful in my account of this matter to tell all just as it happened, to put upon it neither more nor less of romantic color than we saw. Had I the skill and license of a novelist, I could have made much of my little mystery; but there are many now living who remember all these things, and then, I am a soldier, and too old for a new business. So I make as much of them as there was and no more.

In private theatricals, an evening at the Harbor, I had won applause with the rig, wig, and dialect of my trip to Wrentham Square. So, when I proposed a plan to my friend the general, urging the peril of a raw hand with a trust of so much importance, he had no doubt of my ability.

I borrowed a long coat, having put off my dress, and, when all was ready, went with a lantern to get the ladies. Louise recognized me first.

"Grace au ciel! le capitaine!" said she, running to meet me.

I dropped my lantern as we came face to face, and have ever been glad of that little accident, for there in the dark my arms went around her, and our lips met for a silent kiss full of history and of holy confidence. Then she put her hand upon my face with a gentle caressing touch, and turned her own way.

"I am very, very glad to see you," I said.

"Dieu!" said her sister, coming near, "we should be glad to see you, if it were possible."

I lighted the lantern hurriedly.

"Ciel! the light becomes him," said Louison, her grand eyes aglow.

But before there was time to answer I had kissed her also.

"He is a bold thing," she added, turning soberly to the baroness.

"Both a bold thing and a happy thing," I answered. "Forgive me. I should not be so bold if I were not—well—insanely happy."

"He is only a boy," said the baroness, laughing as she kissed me.

"Poor little ingenu!" said Louison, patting my arm.

Louise, tall and lovely and sedate as ever, stood near me, primping her bonnet.

"Little ingenu!" she repeated, with a faint laugh of irony as she placed the dainty thing on her head.

"Well, what do you think of him?" said Louison, turning to help her.

"Dieu! that he is very big and dreadful," said the other, soberly. "I should think we had better be going."

These things move slowly on paper, but the greeting was to me painfully short, there being of it not more than a minuteful, I should say. On our way to the lights they plied me with whispered queries, and were in fear of more fighting. The prisoners were now in the coach, and our men—there were 12—stood on every side of it, their pikes in hand. The boats were near, and we hurried to the river by a toteway. Our schooner lay some 20 rods off a point. A bateau and six canoes were waiting on the beach, and when we had come to the schooner I unbound the prisoners.

"You can get ashore with this bateau," I said. "You will find the horses tied to a tree."

"Wha' does thet mean?" said D'ri.

"That we have no right to hold them," was my answer. "Ronley was in no way responsible for their coming."

Leaning over the side with a lantern, while one of our men held the bateau, I motioned to the coachman.

"Give that 'humberreller' to the butler, with my compliments," I whispered.

Our anchors up, our sails took the wind in a jiffy.

"'Member how we used ye," D'ri called to the receding Britishers, "an' ef ye ever meet a Yankee try t' be p'lite tew 'im."

Dawn had come before we got off at the Harbor dock. I took the ladies to an inn for breakfast, wrote a report, and went for my horse and uniform. Gen. Brown was buttoning his suspenders when they admitted me to his room.

"What luck, my boy?" said he.

"All have returned safely, including

WE WENT RIDING THAT AFTERNOON.

the ladies," I replied quickly, "and I have the honor to submit a report."

He took a chair, and read the report carefully, and looked up at me, laughing.

"What a lucky and remarkable young man!" said he. "I declare, you should have lived in the Middle Ages."

"Ah, then I should not have enjoyed your compliments or your friendship," was my answer.

He laughed again heartily.

"Nor the demoiselles'," said he. "I congratulate you. They are the loveliest of their sex; but I'm sorry they're not Americans."

"Time enough. I have decided that one of them shall become an American," said I, with all the confidence of youth.

"It is quite an undertaking," said he. "You may find new difficulties. Their father is at the chateau."

"M'sieur de Lambert?" I exclaimed.

"M'sieur de Lambert. Came yesterday, via Montreal, with a fine young nobleman—the Count Esmon de Brovel," said he. "You must look out for him; he has the beauty of Apollo and the sword of a cavalier."

"And I no fear of him," I answered soberly, with a quick sense of alarm.

"They rode over in the afternoon with Chaumont," he went on. "It seems the young ladies' father, getting no news of them, had became worried. Well, you may go and have three days for your fun; I shall need you presently."

Breakfast over, I got a team for the ladies, and, mounting my own horse, rode before them. I began to consider a very odd thing in this love experience. While they were in captivity I had begun to think less of Louison and more of Louise. In truth, one face had faded a little in my memory; the other, somehow, had grown clearer and sweeter, as if by a light borrowed from the soul behind it. Now that I saw Louison, her splendid face and figure appealed to me with all the power of old. She was quick, vivacious, subtle, cunning, aware and proud of her charms, and ever making the most of them. She, ah, yes, she could play with a man for the mere pleasure of victory—if she were not in love with him. This type of woman had no need of argument to make me feel her charms. With her the old doubt had returned to me; for how long? I wondered. Her sister was quite her antithesis—thoughtful, slow, serious, even-tempered, frank, unconscious of her beauty, and with that wonderful thing, a voice tender and low and sympathetic and full of an eloquence I could never understand, although I felt it to my finger-tips. I could not help loving her, and, indeed, what man with any life in him feels not the power of such a woman? That morning, on the woods-pike, I reduced the problem to its simplest terms: the one was a physical type, the other a spiritual.

"M'sieur le Capitaine," said Louison, as I rode by the carriage, "what became of the tall woman last night?"

"Left us there in the woods," I answered. "She was afraid of you."

"Afraid of me! Why?"

"Well, I understand that you boxed her ears shamefully."

A merry peal of laughter greeted my words.

"It was too bad; you were very harsh," said Louise, soberly.

"I could not help it; she was an ugly, awkward thing," said Louison. "I could have pulled her nose."

"And it seems you called her a geante also," I said. "She was quite offended."

"It was a compliment," said the girl. "She was an Amazon—like the count's statue of Jeanne d'Arc."

"Poor thing! she could not help it," said Louise.

"Well," said Louison, with a sigh of regret, "if I ever see her again I shall give her a five-franc piece."

There was a moment of silence, and she broke it.

"I hope, this afternoon, you will let me ride that horse," said she.

"On one condition," was my reply, "And it is—?"

"That you will let me ride yours at the same time."

"Agreed," was her answer. "Shall we go at three?"

"With the consent of the baroness and—and your father," I said.

"Father!" exclaimed the two girls.

"Your father," I repeated. "He is now at the chateau."

"Heavens!" said Louison.

"What will he say?" said the baroness.

"I am so glad—my dear papa!" said Louise, clapping her hands.

We were out of the woods now, and could see the chateau in the uplands.

CHAPTER XXIV.

There was a dignity in the manners of M. de Lambert to me formidable and oppressive. It showed in his tall, erect figure, his deep tone, his silvered hair and mustache. There was a merry word between the kisses of one daughter; between those of the other only tears and a broken murmur.

"Oh, papa," said Louison, as she greeted him, "I do love you—but I dread that—tickly old mustache. Mon Deiu! what a lover—you must have been!"

Then she presented me, and put her hand upon my arm, looking proudly at her father.

"My captain!" said she. "Did you ever see a handsomer Frenchman?"

"There are many, and here is one," said he, turning to the young count, who stood behind him—a fine youth, tall, strong-built, well-spoken, with blond hair and dark, keen eyes. I admit frankly I had not seen a better figure of a man. I assure you, he had the form of Hercules, the eye of Mars. It was an eye to command—women; for I had small reason to admire his courage when I knew him better. He took a hand of each young lady, and kissed it with admirable gallantry.

"Dieu! it is not so easy always to agree with one's father," said Louison.

We went riding that afternoon—Therese and her marquis and Louison and I. The first two went ahead of us; we rode slowly, and for a time no word was spoken. Winds had stripped the timber, and swept its harvest to the walls and hollows, where it lay bleaching in the sun. Birch and oak and maple were holding bared arms to the wind, as if to toughen them for storm and stress. I felt a mighty sadness, wondering if my own arms were quite seasoned for all that was to come. The merry-hearted girl beside me was ever like a day of June—the color of the rose in her cheek, its odor always in her hair and lace. There was never an hour of autumn in her life.

"Alas, you are a very silent man!" said she, presently, with a little sigh.

"Only thinking," I said.

"Of what?"

"Dieu! of the dead summer," I continued.

"Believe me, it does not pay to think," she interrupted. "I tried it once, and made a sad discovery."

"Of what?"

"A fool!" said she, laughing.

"I should think it—it might have been a coquette," said I, lightly.

"Why, upon my word," said she, "I believe you misjudge me. Do you think me heartless?"

For the first time I saw a shadow in her face.

"No; but you are young and—and beautiful, and—"

"What?" she broke in impatiently, as I hesitated. "I long to know."

"Men will love you in spite of all you can do," I added.

"Captain!" said she, turning her face away.

"Many will love you, and—and you can choose only one—a very hard thing to do—possibly."

"Not hard," said she, "if I see the right one—and—and—he loves me also."

I had kept myself well in hand, for I was full of doubts that day; but the clever girl came near taking me, horse, foot, and guns, that moment. She spoke so charmingly, she looked so winning, and then, was it not easy to ask if I were the lucky one? She knew I loved her, I knew that she had loved me, and I might as well confess. But no; I was not ready.

"You must be stern with the others; you must not let them tell you," I went on.

"Ciel!" said she, laughing, "one might as well go to a nunnery. May not a girl enjoy her beauty? It is sweet to her."

"But do not make it bitter for the poor men. Dieu! I am one of them, and know their sorrows."

"And you—you have been in love?"

"Desperately," I answered, clinging by the finger-tips. Somehow we kept drifting into fateful moments when a word even might have changed all that has been—our life way, the skies above us, the friends we have known, our loves, our very souls.

She turned, smiling, her beauty flashing up at me with a power quite irresistible. I shut my eyes a moment, summoning all my forces. There was only a step between me and—God knows what!

"Captain, you are a foolish fellow," said she, with a little shudder. "And I—well, I am cold. Parbleu! feel my hand."

She had drawn her glove quickly, and held out her hand, white and beautiful, a dainty finger in a gorget of gems. That little cold, trembling hand seemed to lay hold of my heart and pulled me to her. As my lips touched the palm I felt its mighty magic. Dear girl! I wonder if she planned that trial for me.

"We must—ride—faster. You—you—are cold," I stammered.

She held her hand so that the sunlight flashed on the jewels, and looked down upon it proudly.

"Do you think it beautiful?" she asked.

"Yes, and wonderful," I said. "But, mark me, it is all a sacred trust—the beauty you have."

"Sacred?"

"More sacred than the power of kings," I said.

"Preacher!" said she, with a smile. "You should give yourself to the church."

"I can do better with the sword of steel," I said.

"But do not be sad. Cheer up, dear fellow!" she went on, patting my elbow with a pretty mockery. "We women are not—not so bad. When I find the man I love—"

Her voice faltered as she began fussing with her stirrup.

I turned with a look of inquiry, changing quickly to one of admiration.

"I shall make him love me, if I can," she went on soberly.

"And if he does?" I queried, my blood quickening as our eyes met.

"Dieu! I would do anything for him," said she.

I turned away, looking off at the brown fields. Ah, then, for a breath, my heart begged my will for utterance. The first word passed my lips when there came the sound of galloping hoofs and Therese and the marquis.

"Come, dreamers," said the former, as they pulled up beside us. "A cold dinner is the worst enemy of happiness."

"And he is the worst robber that shortens the hour of love," said the marquis, smiling.

We turned, following them at a swift gallop. They had helped me out of that mire of ecstasy, and now I was glad, for, on my soul, I believed the fair girl had one more to her liking, and was only playing for my scalp. And at last I had begun to know my own heart, or thought I had.

D'ri came over that evening with a letter from Gen. Brown. He desired me to report for duty next day or two.

[To Be Continued.]

Fixing the Blame.

"Dick Wintersmith, representative from Kentucky, was one of the drollest wits in Washington," said "Phil" Thompson at the Waldorf the other night. "I remember at one time he and his wife were walking down Pennsylvania avenue when a little Frenchman, a member of the legation, who was directly in front of them, tripped and fell. It was slippery and he fell all over the pavement in the most ludicrous way.

"Mrs. Wintersmith laughed, whereupon the little Frenchman, picking himself up, rushed at Dick and presented him with his card.

"Dick looked it thoughtfully over.

"'What's this for?' he asked of the little Frenchman.

"'Your ladee there,' snorted the Frenchman in a tower of rage, 'she laugh at me. She laugh at me when I fall on zee pavement down. I, sir, demand ze sateesfaczione!'

"Dick quietly handed him back his card.

"'You go to this lady's brother and demand zee sateesfaczoine,' said he 'She ain't no blood kin of mine.'"—N. Y. Herald.

Origin of "Pounds Sterling."

How many folk who work every day in the year who use the phrase "pounds sterling" are aware of its origin? Probably not one in a thousand. Yet the adjective "sterling," which, apart from its commercial sense, has come to indicate worth and genuineness, has a curious historical significance, and is a distinct survival of times when England did not weigh so heavily in the balance of power as she does now. In the fourteenth century the trade of the known world was, almost without exception, in the hands of the Hanseatic league. Within this league there were many towns, most of which coined money, some using better metal than others. Lubec, a Baltic city, made the best money, and the English merchants, who even then knew a good thing when they saw it, used to contract for payment in the "moneys of the Easterlings"—Easterlings being their name for the Baltic merchants. Shortened for convenience, the word still obtains, and has all its original force.—Liverpool Post.

THE TEACHER'S FOE

A LIFE ALWAYS THREATENED BY NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

One Who Broke Down from Six Years of Overwork Tells How She Escaped Misery of Enforced Idleness.

"I had been teaching in the city schools steadily for six years," said Miss James, whose recent return to the work from which she was driven by nervous collapse has attracted attention. "They were greatly overcrowded, especially in the primary department of which I had charge, and I had been doing the work of two teachers. The strain was too much for my nerves and two years ago the crisis came.

"I was prostrated mentally and physically, sent in my resignation and never expected to be able to resume work. It seemed to me then that I was the most miserable woman on earth. I was tortured by nervous headaches, worn out by inability to sleep, and had so little blood that I was as white as chalk.

"After my active life, it was hard to bear idleness, and terribly discouraging to keep paying out the savings of years for medicines which did me no good."

"How did you get back your health?"

"A bare chance and a lot of faith led me to a cure. After I had suffered for many months, and when I was on the very verge of despair, I happened to read an account of some cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements were so convincing that I somehow felt assured that these pills would help me. Most people, I think, buy only one box for a trial, but I purchased six boxes at once, and when I had used them up, I was indeed well and had no need of more medicine.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enriched my thin blood, gave me back my sleep, restored my appetite, gave me strength to walk long distances without fatigue, in fact freed me from all my numerous ailments. I have already taught for several months, and I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Margaret M. James is now living at No. 123 Clay street, Dayton, Ohio. Many of her fellow teachers have also used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are enthusiastic about their merits. Sound digestion, strength, ambition, and cheerful spirits quickly follow their use. They are sold in every drug store in the world.

Matter of Choice.

"Between the two," said the home-grown philosopher, "I prefer the has-been to the going-to-be man."

"Because why?" queried the youth.

"Because it is so much easier to shut the has-been up," explained the philosophy dispenser.—Chicago Daily News.

GRATEFUL TO CUTICURA.

For Instant Relief and Speedy Cure of Raw and Scaly Humour, Itching Day and Night for Many Months.

"I do wish you would publish this letter so that others suffering as I have may see it and be helped. For many months awful sores covered my face and neck, scabs forming, which would swell and itch terribly day and night, and then break open, running blood and matter. I had tried many remedies, but was growing worse, when I started with Cuticura. The first application gave me instant relief, and when I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, I was completely cured. ANOTHER RECORD IN LAND-HUNTING.

This Spring's Exodus to Canada Greater Than Ever.

It was thought in 1903, when over forty-five thousand people went from the United States to Canada, that the limit of the yearly emigration to the wheat zone of the Continent had been reached. But when in 1904 about as large a number of American citizens signified their intention of becoming settlers on Canadian lands, the general public were prepared for the announcement of large numbers in 1905. No surprise therefore will be caused when it is made known that the predictions of fully fifty thousand more in 1905 are warranted in the fact that the Spring movement Canadaward is greater than it has ever been. The special trains from Omaha, Chicago, St. Paul, Detroit, and other gateways, have been crowded. Many have gone to join friends and relatives who have prepared homes for them, and others have gone relying upon their own resources, satisfied that what others have done can also be done by them. This year much new territory has been opened up by the railroads, which are extending their main lines and throwing out branches in their march across the best grain and grazing lands on the Continent. This new territory has attractions for those desiring to homestead on the one hundred and sixty acres granted each settler by the Canadian Government. Many also take advantage of the opportunity to purchase lands at the low figures at which they are now being offered.

It does not require much thought to convince one that if Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota and other lands, with a value of from fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars an acre will give a good living by producing ten to thirteen bushels of wheat to the acre and thirty to fifty bushels of corn to the acre, the lands of Western Canada at seven to ten dollars an acre, producing from twenty to thirty bushels of a superior wheat to the acre, should produce a competence to the ordinary farmer in a very few years. These are the facts as they confront the reader. There are millions of acres of such land in Western Canada in addition to the other millions that are considered to be portion of the biggest and best ranges that ever invited the cattle and horse producer of the North American continent. What is particularly evident in Western Canada is the fact that the wheat lands, adjoining the grazing lands, make farming particularly agreeable and profitable. The agents of the Canadian Government, who are always willing to give information and advice to intending settlers, say that the acreage put under crop this season is greatly in excess of last season.

Where They Go Lame.

She—There are at least three things that no man can keep—a five-dollar bill, a good joke and an appointment with a dentist.

He—Yes, and there are three things no woman can do—point a lead pencil, cross a street in front of an automobile, and understand the difference between ten minutes and an hour.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cannot Reduce a Rate.

It is stated in Washington, that under the Townsend rate bill, if a rate is fixed by the Commission it cannot be lowered by a railroad. Should an emergency arise calling for a decreased rate, the railroads or shippers would have to appeal again to the Commission, there being no latitude allowed, whatever the circumstances. Hitherto a maximum rate has been the rule, but no such concession is made under the proposed legislation.

THE RAMBOUILLET SHEEP.

A Well-Known Breed Which Has Many Good Qualities—Has Heavy Fleece.

One of the main characteristics of the Rambouillets is the thickness of the fleece which, of course, makes them very valuable for growers who raise sheep mainly for the wool. While they are also highly thought of for their carcasses

GROUP OF RAMBOUILLET SHEEP.

they are not equal in this respect to some of the smaller and more delicately formed breeds, says the Indianapolis News. As a rule the ewes are the best sort of mothers, and are very prolific; moreover, they seem to retain their strong vitality up to the period when the lambs are dropped, hence impart much of it to the young. While it is generally considered that where fleece brings a fair price, the breed is a good general purpose one, there is no doubt but that its main value lies in the quantity and quality of fleece produced.

PROFIT IN LIVE STOCK.

The Effects of Feeding on the Quality of Beef and Meat of Other Animals.

The most valuable cuts on the beef animal are the loin, prime ribs, the seven ribs next the loin, the rump and round; in other words, the cuts taken along the back and from the thighs, the former being of much greater value than the latter, says L. D. Hale, Illinois experiment station.

As to whether it is possible to determine by means of the feed the part of the carcass which will be most highly developed, no experimental results have been published which are sufficiently well grounded to warrant a conclusion on this point. Any figures to be trustworthy should be based upon the slaughter test of a large number of animals fed by different methods. So far as our present knowledge goes, it cannot be said that the method of feeding exerts any material influence upon the relative development of the different parts. That is to say, the carcass of a steer in thin condition has about the same percentage of loin and rib cuts as that of a prime fat steer.

Not only does this seem to be true, but much less difference seems to exist between well-bred animals and scrubs in this respect than is commonly supposed. More evidence is needed upon this point also. However, in the light of present knowledge, it would seem that the advantage of intelligent feeding is far more in the rapid gain and better finish secured than in the development of certain parts of the carcass; and that the advantage of animals of beef, mutton or lard types over those of dairy, wool or bacon conformation lies rather in the more rapid gain, higher finish, higher percentage of carcass to live weight and better quality of meat, than in the percentage of valuable cuts.

SOIL MULCH IS NEEDED.

Explanation by the Department of Agriculture as to Its Advantages.

If the season should be dry, as it was in many places last year the value of loose, dry mulch will be appreciated. This method of keeping moisture in the ground is slowly becoming understood. The department of agriculture gives the following lucid explanation of its advantages:

"As the moisture from the surface evaporates it is replaced by moisture drawn from greater depths by capillary attraction, just as oil is drawn through the wick of a lamp to replace that which is consumed by the flame. The rapidity with which moisture will evaporate from the ground depends upon the condition of the capillary tubes, or pores, that connect the surface with the deeper soil. Any dry blanket that can be placed between the atmosphere and the damp soil will check this evaporation. The most practical protection is a covering of finely pulverized dry soil, two or three inches deep. By thoroughly loosening the surface layer the soil particles are disarranged so that the capillary tubes are not continuous. In this condition the surface soil becomes quite dry, and remains so without absorbing moisture from below, thus acting as a mulch and retaining the moisture within the plant roots. It is necessary that this soil mulch be fine, for if it is composed of clods, air circulates between them and causes evaporation to take place from the soil below the surface. A rain, however, will wet the surface, causing the soil to run together and crust, restoring capillarity. This makes another cultivation necessary in order to renew the blanket of fine, loose soil."

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. J. E. Waggoner, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I can most heartily recommend your Castoria to the public as a remedy for children's complaints. I have tried it and found it of great value."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully."

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR COW OWNERS

The mechanical Cream Separator has become a vital feature of every home dairy just as of every butter factory.

Its use means much more and much better cream and butter, as well as saving of water, ice, time and room.

The difference in results is not small but big. Few cows now pay without a separator. Dairying is the most profitable kind of farming with one.

98% of the creamery butter of the world is now made with De Laval machines, and there are over 500,000 farm users besides.

Work for woodsmen is scarce here as there is no bark to peel this year and most of them are leaving with their families.

Humphrey Smith, landlord at Brooks Run hotel is selling off his stock preparatory to leaving, but we have not learned his destination.

J. B. Brooks and family leave this week for Emporium, I believe, and Mr. J. Lamb is to move into the house vacated by him.

Cameron county as well as Potter seems to have an overdose of candidates for County Supt., and it is to be hoped that the one best suited for the office, will be elected in each place on Tuesday. Since the state has fixed the price for that office there seems to be more of an effort to "get there" and that should insure the teacher with the best qualifications the election. As the state has also fixed the minimum of teachers' wages at $35 we should be able to get a little higher grade of teachers than when they were hired for $18 to $25 per month.

SPRING CATARRH.

Changeable Weather Causes Disease, Breathe Hyomei and Cure Catarrh.

The changeable weather of Spring, with its warm days and cold nights, is responsible for a great increase in the number of cases of catarrh. It is now that Hyomei, the only guaranteed treatment for catarrh that cures without stomach dosing, should be used in every home.

For more than a century physicians have been sending persons suffering from catarrh to Egypt, Colorado, or Australia, where the pure healing air would cure the disease. For one person who could take this trip, thousands have been compelled to stay at home and continue their daily toil. To these sufferers who could not change their climatic conditions, we offer Hyomei, a method by which pure air impregnated with Nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh, can be inhaled by every sufferer in his or her home. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance, reaches the lungs and air passages as no stomach dosing possibly can do. It gives immediate relief and makes lasting cures.

The complete outfit, consisting of the inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hyomei, costs only one dollar, and extra bottled of Hyomei, if needed, can be procured for fifty cents.

Proof that the Hyomei treatment will do all that is claimed for it is found in the guarantee under which L. Taggart sells it, an agreement to pay back the price, if the purchaser can say that Hyomei has not given satisfaction.

SIDE BY SIDE!

A Vehicle Comparison by Mr. F. L. SHAW,

Manager of the Vehicle Interests of Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago

We take special pride in the construction of our good work and in the promptness with which we fill every order. As much pains are taken in the building and shipping of our $36.00 buggy as our $60.00 job. Differences in prices with us, mean different grades of materials, and the amount of labor expended. We court investigation.

A Side-by-Side Comparison We ordered a buggy through another party. It took six weeks to get it. It is on our floor now. By the side of it is one of our jobs which we sell at about the same price. Note some of the differences:

On Ours	On the Other
	STRONGLY BRACED.	Costs much less than ours. (Notice the back does not fit the seat.)
BODY—24 inches wide.	23 inches wide. (This means a smaller dash, smaller boot, narrower carpet, etc.)
AXLES—Long distance, with double collars and extra Collinge dust-proof collar.	Old style common axle—used 20 years ago.
10-INCH WROUGHT IRON 5TH WHEEL, with anti-rattlers.	8-inch malleable, with no anti-rattler.
STEEL SHAFT SHACKLES. (You can't break them.)	Malleable iron. (Easy to break.)
WROUGHT STEEL BAILEY LOOPS. (Might twist it, but won't break.)	Malleable iron. (One good lick and it's all over.)
5-16 INCH ROUND SADDLE CLIPS.	Half-inch oval.
COMBINATION SHIFTING RAIL AND PANEL BRACE.	Separate castings—no shifting rail.
SEAT—16 inches deep.	15 inches. (Less cloth or leather in trimming.)
ALL-HICKORY WHEELS.	Special hickory and elm—much cheaper.
1-4 INCH BESSEMER STEEL TIRES.	3-16 inch steel.
GENUINE LEATHER-TRIMMED SHAFTS.	Duck trimmed.

There are many other differences and while each of them may seem small in itself, when taken together they represent a fair profit on a buggy.

It finishes the story. It tells you how our work is built and shows further that most of the vehicles offered at prices lower than ours are the poorest that are made.

This pledge is constantly in view:

We agree to furnish a stronger, better proportioned, nicer trimmed job, with greater lasting qualities, for less money than any factory in the world.
